

Student Shiatsu Projects on the Web

As part of an initiative to improve learning resources for our members, and to encourage the sharing of information, we invite members to send their student shiatsu projects to the Shiatsu Society Office for inclusion in a new 'Student Projects' area of the Shiatsu Society website. We are hoping to develop this into a searchable resource at a later date, but this is a first step towards creating a 'library' of projects that we hope you will find a useful and interesting resource.

Provided you meet the criteria listed below, your project will be uploaded as a fully downloadable pdf file. This will be accessible to members only at this stage. Copyright remains with the author(s) but should be indicated at the end of your project by the copyright symbol (©) followed by your name/ brand and year. Note that in making a submission for publication you are granting permission for the educational and personal use of your work by others unless you specifically state otherwise.

A Note on Plagiarism

Plagiarism occurs when writers use the words, ideas or materials from other writers or sources without proper credit or acknowledgement. Please ensure that any citations, paraphrasing or direct quotes are suitably credited, or you may be at risk of breach of copyright, the penalties for which can be severe.

All projects will be subject to a review process to ensure suitability and compliance with current relevant legislation. Submission does not automatically ensure publication and the Shiatsu Society reserves the right to refuse publication where it is deemed appropriate to do so.

Please complete the following information which will need to be submitted with your project:
